

Consider This Scenario . . .

June 25, 2009

Harbor 14

*

Harbor 20

*

Harbor 25

It is a beautiful day. Sunny, 8 to 10 knots of breeze, and your schedule is clear for two hours. Would you go sailing, spontaneously? If you had a Harbor 14, a Harbor 20, or a Harbor 25, you could. It takes less than fifteen minutes to pull the covers off, raise the main, unfurl the jib, and sail away from the dock. And when you return to the dock, it takes just ten minutes to hose the boat off, dry it, and put the covers on. That gives you at least an hour and a half of sailing time on a beautiful day. What could be better?

And because the cockpits of these boats are so comfortable, you can take the whole family. To be sure you don't miss the fun this summer, we are offering all three boats at prices too good to pass up.

